Dear Ms. Lowrey:

On behalf of the special children and families we serve, thank you to the Esco Foundation for your generous grant in the amount of $20,000 to support Essential Treatment Services for children with severe emotional/behavioral disturbances and their families.

These crucial and necessary continued support services will make a profound difference in the lives of families being served. For some, this is the integral component that will determine their journey to recovery and a productive, meaningful life.

Serving over 18,000 people a year, Kenneth Young Center offers a broad range of mental health, prevention and social services to clients across the age, wellness and financial continuum. Services such as:

- Support elderly people to stay as independent as possible for as long as possible
- Serve people immobilized by a life crisis, anxiety, depression, or problems they can't face alone
- Counsel families going through difficult transitions or stuck in seemingly unresolvable patterns
- Help children and adolescents at a psychiatric turning point, desperate for immediate and then ongoing community support
- Treat people challenged by serious mental disorders, who benefit from skill training, socialization and advocacy to manage their illness

In these challenging economic times, when the need is greatest and resources are much less accessible, we are most grateful. Thanks again for your continued support.

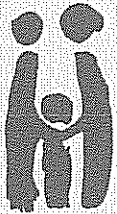

Sincerely,

Mitch Bruski
